PROFILE

Indonesia-based developer who genuinely enjoys the moment a system finally clicks together: a clean API, a vulnerability that reveals itself, a bot that runs at 3 AM while I sleep. Background spans social media data analysis, freelance penetration testing, and enterprise Google Workspace administration — every stop teaching one thing I now bring to every line of code: respect data, assume nothing is safe by default, automate what doesn't need a human.

Security-first mindset across full-stack work. Whether shipping a React application or hardening someone's infrastructure, the goal is the same — build things that work today and don't quietly break tomorrow.
